

How to Find Census Information

Canadian Census

The Canadian census was taken every ten years from 1851 to 1921. Censuses before 1851 only named the head of the household and many of these censuses no longer exist. The 1851 census was the first one that listed everyone's name. Census returns were enumerated geographically not by name. According to Canadian legislation, 92 years has to pass after a census is taken before the records can be opened to the public.

Most census returns list the following information about a person: age, sex, country or province of birth, religion, racial or ethnic origin, occupation, and marital status. The 1901 census also includes date of birth, year of immigration, and address or location of land. The 1911 census only lists the month and year of birth.

We have census reels on microfilm for the years 1851 to 1911 for Brant County and some of the surrounding counties in Ontario. Catalogues on top of the microfilm cabinet in the local history room (one catalogue for 1666-1891 and another catalogue for 1901) list reel numbers by location and year.

The death schedule was only microfilmed for the 1851, 1861, and 1871 censuses. In 1851 and 1861, deaths that occurred within the past 12 months were listed as part of the personal schedule (in a separate column). In 1871 the deaths were compiled in a schedule of deaths that followed the personal schedule (provided the name of the deceased, their age, birthplace, and cause of death). The FamilySearch website (www.familysearch.org/) has a searchable database of the 1871 mortality schedules (45,371 records). Registration is free. Ancestry also has this database.

There are agricultural returns for the 1851, 1861, and 1871 censuses. This section provides information such as lot and concession number, acreage, livestock, and agricultural products. The agricultural returns for 1881, 1891, 1901, and 1911 were not kept.

United States Census

Ancestry has the federal census from 1790 to 1940 (every 10 years). The 1890 census was mostly destroyed by fire but Ancestry has compiled a “substitute” to help researchers. Click on Census and Voter Lists in the right column on the Search page. Search all of the U.S. census records or choose a specific year from the list. 1850 is the first federal census to list each household member by name. You can view the original images on Ancestry.

Family Search (Mormon Library) has the federal census from 1850 to 1940 and some state censuses for various years. You can view the original images for some of the censuses on Family Search.

NOTE: The 1950 United States census is scheduled to be released on April 1, 2022.

United Kingdom Census

Ancestry has the United Kingdom census (England, Scotland, Wales, Channel Islands, Isle of Man) from 1841 to 1911. Click on Census and Voter Lists in the right column on the Search page. Search all of the U.K. census records or choose a specific census from the list. The 1841 census is the first one to name everyone in the household. You can view the original image for some of these censuses on Ancestry

Family Search (Mormon Library) has the censuses from 1841 to 1911.

NOTE: The 1921 England and Wales census is scheduled to be released on January 6, 2022.
